Under the Lilies.

Under the lilies, above and gray,
Under the lilies, pink and sweet,
Under the lilies, with blush of pink,
Dreamed fair Marguerite.
Under the lilies, in dense perfume,
The lilies, in the sun, the flowers above,
And the silver sticke was Cupid's bow,
While their dream of life was love.
Under the lilies they stand and part,
(One that loves her, loves her well,
The lilies die, and their petals fall
Who shall come after, who can tell?

"Der Gas Craze."

Gas! gas! gas! gas!
All the men hollered for,
All did he holl, he holl,
To the gas! gas!
To the gas!
Go down mit der street corner
Und lisen von white.
Der gas! gas! gas!

All did he holl, he holl,
Der talking mit gas!

Und look all erblout
Der gas! gas! gas!
Der can't keep it out.
Der gas! will crawl in at every crack,
Der gas! will crawl in at every crack.
Und all did you hear off,
Und all did you're told,
Ish do! "If we strike gas,
We'll be richer as gold!"
Far out mit der country,
In every town,

Der gas! will blow down.
But man der corner, where leafers abound,
Und many a blue, where gas was once found,
Vill be about and smunter don erfora,
Show der gas! will turn out to be only a

Edinburg, April 20. —[M. E. Pate.]

The alarm of fire on Sunday afternoon was occasioned by the accidental igniting of bed-clothing at the residence of Mrs. H. Evans, on Lewis street. It was extinguished without any material damage.

Bourbon county is tired of being coquettish with the railroad question, and is thoroughly aroused and ready to co-operate with us in the building of the F. G. & P. railroad. A mass meeting has been called to assemble in Paris today, and Judge Lindsay, the President of the railroad, has been invited to be present and address the meeting, which he has consented to do. The times are ripe for action, and let there be action, action, ACTION, all along the line. It is marvelous what can be achieved when a people are determined to accomplish anything.

Mrs. Rhoda McIlvain, daughter of the late Governor Thos. P. Metcalfe and sister of Col. Lon. Metcalfe and Mrs. Keturah Millard, died at her home in Nicholas county on Monday last, aged seventy-eight. She was a most estimable lady, and had been a great sufferer, having been confined to bed for fifty years, the result of imprudence at confinement. She was the mother of four children, two by each husband, having been twice married, her first husband being a Mr. Stofer, who only lived a few years, leaving her a widow with two children before she was 25 years of age.

At the morning service at the Christian Church on Sunday, the congregation instructed the Clerk of the Church, by a unanimous vote, to open correspondence with Rev. George Darsie for the purpose of ascertaining whether he would accept a call to resume the charge of that Church at the expiration of his year in Boston. Our entire community would be delighted should his answer prove favorable.

Capt. David A. Murphy, formerly Superintendent of the Government Building in this city, and editor and publisher of the Danville Tribune, has commenced the publication of a new Republican paper at Findlay, Ohio, bearing the name of the Findlay Tribune.

Installation of Officers.

At the regular meeting of Canton Wildey, No. 6, which was held on May 12th, Past Commander Geo. W. Reoch installed the elective officers in their respective positions in grand style. All chevaliers present enjoyed the ceremony, though it is the first installation of its officers Canton Wildey has ever experienced, as it is a new branch of Odd Fellowship, it being the highest degree now in existence.

The public school building and surroundings are looking very handsome since the fences have been whitewashed. The school trustees are showing commendable zeal in doing all in their power to make the place attractive. The plank walk in front should be reconstructed, as it has become rather unsafe for children and citizens who are compelled to travel that way. If the Board of Councilmen will have a new walk made there, the little folks and their parents will be grateful.

The School Trustees are authorized by law to provide a course of study for the public school, and the teachers are required to teach the several branches included in it. The trustees alone have the right to decide what shall or shall not be taught in that institution. Should a parent object to any particular study embraced in the course, he should apply to the trustees and ask to have his children excused, giving his reasons therefor in writing. If the trustees refuse to grant his request, he will yield to the requirement or with draw his children from the school. So far as is known, this rule governs in every public graded school in the country, and it is believed that the experience of more than half a century has shown it to be a good one, and absolutely necessary to the success of the system.

Mr. Albert Heinl and Miss Gussie Klar, of this city, were married at St. Paul's Church, in Lexington, at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, by Rev. Father Brossart. Immediately after the ceremony the happy young couple left on a bridal trip to Cincinnati, and will return to this city this afternoon, where they will take rooms at Mr. J. Weitzel, jr.'s. The many friends of the young couple in this city extend their best wishes and congratulate Albert on his good fortune in securing so valuable a prize.

As usual, the U. S. Attorney has given orders that there shall be no jury trials at the June term of the United States Court to be held in this city. The flimsy excuse put in is that the jury fund is exhausted; but he overlooked the patent fact that the Covington term was held and the jurors, &c., received certificates for their fees. There should be some way in which these officers should be compelled to obey the law, and not enact a farce every time this court is held.

Col. Richard C. Wintersmith was appointed on Wednesday, by the President, as Fraudulent Land Entry Agent. His many old friends in this city, his former home, will rejoice to note this.

Nobody Doubts It in Pr. latka.

One of our young merchants gave the following testimony: "One of my customers, at the age of fifteen had a severe attack of rheumatism. His father had to lift him about. He was in bed for six weeks. I sold him a dozen bottles of S. S. which entirely cured him. I recommend S. S. as very potent in rheumatism." Yours truly,

J. H. JOHNSON.

A Little Memorandum.

After I had rheumatism for years in my right hip, I tried S. S. It at once built up my health. The rheumatic pains were all gone and finally disappeared entirely. I never fails to bring it up to the best condition when run down by sickness or over exertion. I have come to regard S. S. as necessary household medicine.

The Paris, Georgetown & Frankfort Railroad.

The Frankfort Board of Trade met at the Opera House on Thursday and appointed Colonels John L. Scott and Grant Green a committee to wait upon Judge Thompson and ask him to call the magistrates together at an early day to submit the railroad company's proposition for a subscription of $150,000 to the voters of Franklin county. The committee saw Judge Thompson, and in a few minutes returned and reported to the Board of Trade that Judge Thompson had agreed to have the magistrates meet next Saturday.

It has been understood on all hands that the railroad's proposition will be so framed and worded as to provide, in substance, that no taxes shall be levied or collected, and no bonds issued until the road is complete and in running order from Frankfort to Georgetown, and that none of the money voted by the people shall ever be applied to the payment of any old debts or demands that may exist on any account against the company, and that the counties that vote the money to build the road shall remain the owners and controllers of the entire concern, and that it shall never be sold or leased or encumbered without the consent of the counties that furnish the money to build it.

These safe-guards must be so plainly inserted in the proposition that no open questions of doubt will exist, and the effect will be the same as if the whole enterprise was started under a new charter, with no old claims hanging over the company to embarrass its progress.

With such safe guards as these inserted in the call, the magistrates should not hesitate to submit the proposition to the voters, and the voters should not, and we believe will not, hesitate in voting the subscription and thus give Frankfort and Franklin county a boom such as she has never had before, and in this new year of Frankfort's second century she will yet step proudly forward and take the front rank in the march of progress.

Our people should act together as one man in this great enterprise like they did in celebrating their centennial last October, when by their united and enthusiastic action they challenged the admiration of the entire State. Now for a strong pull, a united pull altogether like the grand centennial movement, and a similar success awaits the noble efforts of a united people.

The Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Kentucky met in Annual Conclave at Danville, on Wednesday morning last. Representatives were present from twenty-three commanderies. The Grand Officers were present, and report this grand order in a flourishing condition.

An exhibition drill was given by DeMolay Commandery, No. 12, of Louisville, which was much admired by all present.

The Grand Commandery was very handsomely entertained by Ryan Commandery, No. 17, of Danville.

The address of welcome was made by Sir Knight Rev. Green Clay Smith, in a very neat speech, which was responded to by Right Eminent Commander, John S. Lyle, of Covington.

The Grand Commandery elected the following officers, on Thursday evening, after which it adjourned to meet in Maysville next year:

Grand Commander—Henry G. Sandifer, Danville.

Deputy Grand Commander—Horace January, Maysville.

Generalissimo—John G. Montgomery, Cynthiana.

Captain General—W. H. Mefert, Louisville.

Grand Prelate—Jno. W. Pruitt, Frankfort.

Senior Warden—Chas. H. Fisk, Covington.

Junior Warden—T. J. Flournoy, Paducah.

Treasurer—David P. Robb, Versailles.

Reorderer—L. D. Croninger, Covington.

Standard Bearer—S. H. Stone, Richmond.

Warder—C. F. Hill, Louisville.

Captain of the Guard—Eugene Robinson, Maysville.

The lecture by Dr. Sam. E. James last Tuesday afternoon, to the teachers of the public school, on the "Circulation of the Blood," was one of the very best of the series. Every important matter embraced in that topic was ably explained, and clearly illustrated by drawings on the blackboard. At the close many questions concerning the nicer points, not made plain in the text books, were asked by the teachers, and answered by him in the most satisfactory manner. Last Thursday morning, he gave to the pupils of the Higher Department an exceedingly interesting talk on the "purpose, sources and classes of food; the general plan, processes and hygiene of digestion; and the general plan, purposes, organs and hygiene of circulation." Dr. James is an accomplished physician, and is doing much for the youth of our city by teaching them the nature and structure of their bodies, and how to take care of them.

The English Government has refused to permit the Gate City Guards, of Atlanta, Georgia, to enter England on their proposed European tour, unless they will lay aside their arms and uniforms, whereat ye valiant Gate City citizens are waxing very wroth, and are raising their voices for "wah, sah."

Thursday was a festival occasion in the Catholic Church. Bishop Maces, of Covington, was here and held service in the Church of the Good Shepherd, afterwards confirming a class of about thirty-five.

Messrs. LeCompte and Carpenter are first-class gentlemen as well as first-class druggists, and the people on the South Side all know it, and that accounts for their doing such a good business.

Beginning to-morrow a Sunday train will run between this city and Louisville, leaving this city at 7:30 a. m., and returning leaves Louisville at 5:40 p. m.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Mr. L. Weitzel, sr., offering a cottage for rent.

Religious.

Quarterly meeting services at the Methodist Church to-day at 11 a. m. and to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Dr. W. T. Poynter, of Shelbyville, will occupy the pulpit to-morrow morning and evening.

Rev. Dr. Bagby will preach in the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. There will be no service at night, owing to the absence of Dr. Blaney, who is attending the General Assembly now in session at Omaha.

There is a deep and powerful work of grace being developed in the meeting which is now in progress at the Baptist Church.

A large number have made profession of their faith in Christ and united with the church, under the plain, powerful and affectionate appeals of Dr. Wharton, so cordially backed up as he is by the prayers and sympathy of the Christian people of all denominations.

The large audience room of the church is packed with crowds of solemnly attentive and appreciative listeners, who are charmed by the persuasive arguments of the preacher, and no less so by the sweet notes of that "sweet singer of Israel," Rev. A. C. Williamson, who is assisting in the services.

Services are held every morning at 10 1/2 o'clock, and evening at 7:45.

All are cordially invited to be present.

Attention G. W. Monroe Post, No. 44. G. A. R.

You are hereby notified to meet at your Hall on Monday, May 30th, 1887, at 9 o'clock, a. m., to assist in decorating the graves of the Union soldiers, in obedience to the orders of the Grand Commander. All soldiers who wish to turn out with us are cordially invited to be present.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.
Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class mailable matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS,
Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, MAY 21, 1887.

The Dawn of a Better Day.

Once more the light of progress sheds its bright beams on the industries of Franklin county. Once again there is promise of competitive markets for the farmer and cheap rates of transportation for the merchant and the manufacturer.

The Frankfort, Paris & Georgetown Railroad is at last in the hands of its friends, and it is not unreasonable to predict that, with fair, just and wise conduct and management, its success is assured.

Turnpikes, constructed by the benevolent liberality of the citizens of every precinct, for the better interchange of products and the lifting of the farmer from the "mire and the clay," stretch their stony arms into every section of Franklin county, and to these is now, with the consent of the popular will, to be added a new line of commerce, a new avenue of trade, a new outlet to the rich, populous and progressive counties of Central Kentucky.

Better still, the contribution of Franklin county is not to be a free gift. It is not to be a donation of stock to a body of speculators. Nor is it to await an indefinite return for solid aid.

Not a dollar will be given until there is something sure as a recompence. There is no middle man to swallow the profits and leave the county to "hold the bag." But for every dollar given there is to be a railroad complete, and every county that contributes to such complete road will not only own so much of the road as represents its respective contribution, but will have a representative to protect its interests and enforce its rights.

Franklin county now owns the charter, the plans and profiles, and the surveys and papers that denote the powers and property of the Frankfort, Georgetown & Paris Railroad. A citizen is its President and citizens are its Directors.

The county that has never voted a dollar to railroad enterprise in its entire history is now asked to contribute $150,000 in 30-year bonds, to build the road—one-half to be due when the railroad is complete to Georgetown, the balance when it is complete to Paris. No road—no bonds. Each county that makes contribution will be entitled to a Director in the road, and when complete, the road will be owned by the counties in proportion to the amount contributed.

The plan is a straight-forward business arrangement. There is no gigantic construction company to swallow up the bonds, pocket the profits and own the road when built. But for every dollar invested there is to be a railroad built—and when built the counties and parties who furnish the money will own the road.

It is expected that every man, woman and child in Franklin county, who loves its homes and its hills, its independence and its progress, its industries and its future, will contribute heartily and unitedly to carry the subscription by an overwhelming majority.

The preliminary matter of obtaining from the magistrates a submission of the proposition we have no just reason to doubt. Whatever may be his individual views on the measure, we do not think there is a magistrate who will deny the people an expression of their will in the matter.

Refused.

Notwithstanding a unanimous request by the Board of Trade, and a unanimous affirmative report by the Fire Committee, and a strong request of tax-payers by petition, the City Council, by a vote of five to four, refused to take the necessary steps to establish a fire alarm to better protect the property of the people of Frankfort.

This is to be greatly regretted. The more so, as the grounds of opposition do not lie in any testimony to the wishes of the people. There is no denial that a majority of the tax-payers are in favor of a fire alarm telegraph. But against the popular will the judgment of the Council is sternly—need we say harshly—interposed. We are candid to say there are members of the Council who are not aggressively hostile to the measure.

Where is the much vaunted era of good feeling and what becomes of the Times' boasted desire to forget the past with all its bitter memories? Oh! shame, where is thy blush?

If the editor was one-half as good a man as the one he slanders, he would hide his head in shame for his meanness.

Judge Elijah C. Phister, a former Circuit Judge and member of Congress from the 9th District died at his home in Maysville, on Sunday last, in the 66th year of his age.

The readers of the Louisville Times, in this city, were more than disgusted at an article which appeared in its issue of Monday evening in which a base and ghoulish assault is made upon the memory of President Garfield. Like the hyena that is too cowardly to attack a live man, it digs into the grave of the dead and howls with delight at the disgusting feast. If all that it says were true, how much better the charity that would cover the dead with its mantle of love.

It may be and doubtless was true that Garfield had his weaknesses, but we utterly fail to comprehend the venom that so controls a man that it follows its victim even into the grave.

Every one knows that the grand and noble men on both sides of the sad struggle of the past, Lee, Grant, Jackson, Logan, Johnston, and McPherson, had each his peculiar faults, but who a ghoul would remember anything now but the fact that they were the noble representatives of American freemen, who honestly fought for and advocated what they believed to be right.

Where is the much vaunted era of good feeling and what becomes of the Times' boasted desire to forget the past with all its bitter memories? Oh! shame, where is thy blush?

If the editor was one-half as good a man as the one he slanders, he would hide his head in shame for his meanness.

Wednesday was a long day, being 14 hours and 22 minutes in length. The sun rose at 4:45 and set at 7:07. If a man's whole time could be spent in doing good for that many hours each day, what a vast amount of work for the Master would be the result. God's grace alone could enable any man to do this.

Little Lewis, youngest son of the late Lewis Sneed, while playing with a 41 calibre pistol Sunday night, accidentally shot himself through the left hand, the ball cutting across the palm, passing between the third and little finger and lodging under the skin of the back of the hand, where it was cut out. It is thought the hand will not be seriously injured.

We are requested by the merchants and business men of Main street, to ask what is the reason the Main street sewer is not being constructed? There is an urgent and pressing need for this work to be done quickly, before the summer heat shall make it dangerous. Numerous small sewers are waiting to be put in, and the parties are getting very impatient. Hurry up, Messrs. Contractors.

Wednesday morning, as Mr. W. C. Macklin was driving in his sulky on Main street, he stopped in front of Mastin Bros., and his horse, becoming restive, reared up and fell on his side, overturning the sulky and wallowing in the mud until Mr. Macklin and some other gentlemen who were standing by could free him from the harness. No damage was done beyond giving the horse a dirty coat.

Considerable excitement was created, on Main street, on Tuesday afternoon, by a horse belonging to Messrs. Mangan & Darnell running away. It was being driven to a brake-wagon by a colored man. The man succeeded in keeping the horse in the middle of the street and let him run until he got tired. No damage was done.

Ladies who wish to purchase a guaranteed silk dress, in all shades as well as quality, would do well to visit Mrs. Sol. Harris' establishment, as she will certainly astonish you in low prices of black gros grain, all silks, from 75 cents to $1.75 per yard, worth 35 per cent more, every yard guaranteed or money refunded. This is no empty boast, but facts. You will say, how can she sell so much cheaper than any other house; because she has bought them at an imported auction sale during her visit in New York. The dress goods stock in her establishment is complete from a canvas cloth for five cents a yard to an imported plaid or serge; trimmings to match. You certainly must see the round hats and bonnets, and you will imagine you are at Madame Prince's, in New York, as they are imported and no copies. It is well worth the trouble to call and examine the stock of Chantilla, Medici, Torchon and Oval Laces, also Hosiery and the endless amount of all kinds of Trimming, as you will be well paid in the profusion of fine goods and novelties.

Editor Roundabout:

DEAR SIR:—There appeared in your paper of May 14th the following editorial notice of myself:

"Jas. Andrew Scott, Esq., candidate for Representative, wants his friends to understand that he has been invited by his competitor, Dr. Duvall, to attend his appointments to address the people, and, therefore, will not hereafter be present at any of them. He will, as soon as court adjourns, make an appointment of his own and continue his course for the nomination. He states that Dr. Duvall has the right to divide time with him, and has denied his right to speak at the doctor's appointments, but he says that he will especially invite the doctor to attend when he addresses the people.

He replies to this paragraph I have this to say: I have not invited Mr. James Andrew Scott to attend my appointments, but he did so on two occasions. My first appointment was at Furrington (O'Connor's) stable Saturday, April 9th. On arriving at the stable I found that Mr. Scott had gotten there before me. After spending some time for me to begin speaking, he came to me and asked if I would divide time with him, though we had been talking together for more than an hour and a half, and not for the purpose of making an active canvass; you have seen my appointments for the last ten days; you have met me on the streets of Frankfort daily; you know where my residence is, and this late for you to ask for a division of time, when you had made this arrangement at a proper time. I was thinking here, I would have been too glad to have divided with you. As I do not consider your course as just to me, I decline to have a joint discussion with you on this occasion. But you can do as you please hereafter. After I had made my speech, he got up and spoke for a few moments, and I continued to divide time with him, without giving them my reasons, but remarked that he had the right to make his own appointments, and that I would make one more and then on to make his speech. I have no honorable people in all Frankfort who draw their own conclusions. He then, without asking (as I think a gentleman should have done) to let him meet me at Bailey's Mill, preceded me there. I spoke to him, talked with friends, made my speech, and came home. When I was through, he got up and spoke. When I finished I said to him and to the crowd, "that if Mr. Scott, by dogging me on my appointments, thought he would bully or intimidate me, he was making a big mistake." He made no reply, but on reaching the door of the stable, I saw that he had made demonstrations to draw weapons on him. I did nothing of the kind, as every one present knew I did not have my hand near my person; and, if he made such a statement, it is false.

He also stated that the President of the National Guard and the Commandant I had denounced the company and pitched into corporations generally. The truth is, at Furrington, he said that if the people would trust him as their representative, he would do all to assist against corporations, and that he would do nothing in understanding the efforts of the people made by attorneys at our last Legislature in the interest of capitalists. Knowing that he is one of the incorporators of this gas company, I intended my remarks to draw a distinction between corporations and individuals. I think that all who are incorporated have this advantage. They can put their stock on the market, and no subscriptions are paid in cash, and, in the event the company finds out the corporation is a failure, then what property, if any, of the company would be liable to the subscribers, when a regular individual would be liable to discharge the company's debts, and my opinion is that no corporation should be allowed to commence business until the capital stock is paid. So you see he has misrepresented this matter to Mr. Ed. P. Bryan, who is my authority in stating that I denounced this corporation.

He says to the people "trust me, I am honest and truthful, I wish to be induced and vindicated by the people sending me to the Legislature." Now tell me, good people, what public trust he has ever held to recommend him.

And what has he done that he should desire vindication? I ask for neither vindication nor indemnity; my people have already trusted me, and have found no fault with my public course, and I only ask to serve them in the future in the best way.

He tells the people that he was born poor farmer's son, but I understand that, when his father died, at a good old age, he was anything but a poor farmer. In answer to this, let me say there is not a man in this country who was born poorer than I, and he has had to work to this moment to his birthright of poverty.

In conclusion, I have this to say: I will not meet him at his appointments, I cannot see how he can have a little independence, and I expect and a thing, after putting his case in the form of an editorial, not having malice or courage to state his grievances against me over his own signature, but skulking behind the cloak of the Roundabout, and thus making Mr. Lewis responsible for what it states.

I denied him, right to speak at my appointments, but he did so when he knew full well that, acting in a proper manner towards me, all could have been managed aright, and I would have been glad to have met him at any time.

He has done, at all occasions, that he will have me body in his race, and the same declarations when he made the race against Judge Thomson for County Judge.

He tells the people that he is a true resulted.

Democrat, in every instance, but has not explained to the people how he came to make speeches and vote for Judge Hord, when the Judge himself was supporting Capt. Blackburn, the regular nominee. His side was not in voting for the Judge, but in deserting his party when Judge Hord had not asked it of him.

B. F. DUVALL.

Please append the following:

FRANKFORT, KY., April 26, 1887.

Editor Argus:
It has been stated that Mr. Jas. A. Scott, member of the House of Representatives, voted against Capt. Hord for Congress against Capt. Blackburn, who was the regular Democratic nominee. Did he do this? Let him answer.

DEMOCRAT.

Flag Fork.

A late waterspout fell at Sand-riffle, washing corn and soil into the creek.

Mrs. Harrod, mother of the late William Harrod, is slowly recovering from the measles.

Thanks to Mr. Hugh Burns, postmaster at Harp, for his untiring zeal in soliciting for the ROUNDABOUT.

Mr. Ben. Balf says: "Never in my experience as a farmer have I seen such a rapid growth of vigorous tobacco plants and rabid politicians."

The nice, rosy lips of our pretty girls never once moved during the sermon, and now our merchants are down in the mouth because the girls don't buy gum to use in church.

Mrs. John Penn, on her return from a visit to Sweet Home, found her pet cat with a new family of kittens and a hen with her new family of chickens, living in maternal amity in a half-bushel measure.

You remember Mr. James Harkiss offered a reward of $50 to the chevalier who would brave an interview with the ghost which had long haunted his house. His youngest son has just grabbed the ghost by the tail in the shape of a white cat in the garret, and now the pit-a-pat delusion which vexed the whole district into convulsions happily ends forever.

Our milkmaids are in serious session, holding council of war against "Rattler," who is one of the most consummate milk fiends in existence. When Rattler enters a milk house and finds the covers difficult to remove without noise, gently picks up the vessel and carries it out to some neutral ground where the enemy is asleep, and where the empty vessels are often found. Mr. J. W. Rogers is monstrous proud of his pup.

The groceryman lay with his breast on the counter, with mouth spread from ear to ear, while the customers were strewn around on barrels and boxes. At length their conversation turned on weaning calves. "Gentlemen," said Judge D. Bailey, on taking the floor, "when political suckers once get a grip on the public teat, they are apt to freeze to it for life. Their grip is so tenacious that they feel like sucking the marrow out of the State, and they will do it if you give them time."

Where is the road here? I asked of a friendly African who was preparing to wade through the pool between two high walls, yet eyeing his prisoner as she lay flapping on the rocks. "Right heah, boss, him not deep." "Do the stars ever grate against the tops of these high walls in passing over?" I asked him. "Graw, chile! great Lord, I'se seed 'em fr' de rocks into de aih, and flop down into dis heah pool like a bull-frog." "But what are you going to do with that old hen?" I asked again. "Why, boss, you see dat all my chillen hab de rheumatism, and de doctah say, dat chicken soup will bust 'em all to hell. I knows it will, boss, knows it will."

A very heavy thunder storm, accompanied by a high wind, visited our city, on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. No serious damage

Among the Colored Citizens.

BY PEPPER POD.

To the Editor and Many Readers of the Roundabout:

I come before you as proxy for G. H. B., and we will tell you of something we have never seen till we arrived in the beautiful city between the hills.

We have seen men hung, men sent to the penitentiary, men in jail, men whipped, men on the streets breaking rock. We have seen women sent to prison, have seen them shut up in the workhouse, but never saw any city disgraced with a woman sitting on the public streets astraddle of a rock pile, with a chain on her leg big enough to hold Jumbo. Why is this? Is it because the workhouse can not hold them, or is it because Frankfort desires to show to the world that she has no conscientious scruples in regard to inflicting city punishment as to the sexes? It looks bad enough to see a woman in the workhouse breaking rock, but it is a shame and disgrace to see them sitting astraddle a rock pile on the streets, with a great big log chain on their legs for bracelets.

But some one may ask why are our sons and daughters, yes, and fathers, so often arrested and carried before his honor, Judge Sneed? We answer, first, because fathers visit those drinking hells, and allow their children to do as they please. Parents, bring your children up in the way that you would have them go, or as the Lord has commanded you to do. There are 956 children of school age in Frankfort, and about 300 of them attend the Sunday-schools, 656 left to roam the street, pilfer and hang around places of vice and immorality.

Parents, God will require you to answer, in the judgment, for the way you allow children to roam about through the world in ignorance, idleness and vice.

There is great interest being manifested in the State Normal School, to be erected here in a few weeks or months. The great question that should concern the colored people of Kentucky is what kind of men should be put at the head of that institution? Should it be men who do not believe in the divinity of the Lord Jesus Christ, and, secondly, because among them Bro. J. M. Wakefield, who cordially invited us to go home with him which invitation we accepted. We attended services at Frankfort at night, and listened to a fine discourse by Bro. H. M. Warton, of Baltimore, Md., text "God is love."

Ross Lee, died Monday night. Was buried from Bethel Baptist Church. Service was conducted by Rev. M. Madison.

Tuesday evening, May 17th, died Robert H. S. Hockaday, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gipson Hockaday, age 1 year and 1 month.

Married.—Mr. Rodger Monday to Miss Elvira Moss, on Wednesday evening at the bride's residence, by Rev. G. H. Burks.

Forks of Elkhorn.

Born, to the wife of Mr. Sam. Mitchell, on Friday night of last week, a son.

Miss Mamie Galliuh is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Stone, near White Sulphur.

Mr. William Ireland and family visited relatives in Scott county last Wednesday.

Misses Jennie Macklin and Jenny Goddard, of Georgetown Seminary, spent last Saturday and Sunday here at home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Macklin and daughter, Miss Bettie, of Georgetown, are visiting Mrs. Burb Blackburn, near Woodlark.

Misses Lulie and Anna B. Cohorn, and Mr. Lee Jones attended services at Pleasant Ridge Church last Sunday morning.

Miss Anna B. Cohorn has returned to take charge of her school at Stoney Creek. Miss Anna has a fine school there, and we wish her success.

Messrs. H. Stedman & Bro. are making some improvements at their woolen mills by building an addition, and some other changes, which will enable them to turn out better work and more of it than ever before.

We had the pleasure of attending services last Sunday at Pleasant Ridge Church. Bro. Peters preached one of his good old fashioned sermons, from John 3:14, and at the close had one addition. We went home with Bro. Witt and his fair daughter, and there met his good wife and several friends and relatives of the family. We spent an hour in the afternoon at Bro. Witt's Mission Sunday-school. Met several friends, and among them Bro. J. M. Wakefield, who cordially invited us to go home with him which invitation we accepted. We attended services at Frankfort at night, and listened to a fine discourse by Bro. H. M. Warton, of Baltimore, Md., text "God is love."

Pea Ridge.

Bro. Roberts preached here last Sunday, and will preach next Sunday, at 11 o'clock, same place.

Mr. Joe Tracy is the champion traveler of the Ridge, having visited nearly every village in the county during the last few weeks.

The measles have left the Ridge, and it is doubtful, if they ever return. They never made one victim, and our children fought them to the bitter end.

Our Sunday-school, which was organized last Sunday week by Dr. Williams, is increasing in membership, and made their report to the Kentucky Sunday-school Union.

Delegates to the State Sunday-school Convention will be elected so that our friends, both home and abroad, will have the pleasure of knowing that we shall hold our place in the line with other schools in the country.

Work is progressing on our new turnpike at both ends. Rumor had it that convicts was to be employed in grading—it was a mistake. Our Board is composed of men who will never risk the lives of our families by bringing convicts here. Their labor is not cheap, if they work for nothing, because our men would have to quit work, lay in some ammunition, and stay home to guard their families.

Ex convict Vonderhicle was hung for murder, in Shelby county, committed one day after his escape. Two more were pursued and killed by the sheriff, near Lexington, two years ago, after killing one of the deputies. Then that dreadful murder in Louisville in which an ex-convict took part. No, it is not safe to bring convicts here. The Warden's last report shows 150 escapes. (Page 8).

Mr. Milton Tracy and Mr. James Tracy attended the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Parmele Quire, at Sulphur Spring, last Saturday. They were accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Ann Tracy.

Correspondents please select a name for your neighborhood and stand by it. Don't change. Where is "Shake Rag"? We all like to see an old friend in a new dress, but would not like him so well if he got a new name.

In appropriating for the new turnpikes, the Magistrates put in a proviso that convict labor was not to be used on them.—Clark County Democrat.

This is a step in the right direction, and does honor to the people of Clark who elected officers that believe citizens are better than animals.

If there was any profit or advantage in working convicts in competition with free labor, would not those counties who send most convicts to the penitentiary demand a fair share of the profit?

The N. Y. Herald says: "Use Alaska for a penal colony. Send all the convicts in the States there." Correct, as far as it goes, but it don't go far enough. The northern part should be reserved for those who favor convict labor.

Those two merry prophets of Flag Fork, who said "men will be glad to work for board in 1888," deserve a medal for their cheering prophecy, as it places us all on an equality with Vanderbilt, A. T. Stewart and J. J. Astor. That's all they got for their life-long work.

The ladies of the Ridge have been expecting a Ladies Column for months. It was promised them. Why don't some of the ladies of the county write? They know what is wanted; they have the knowledge and ability, and the editor has kindly offered space. Please write and make the Ladies Column the best in the paper.

Unless a Ladies Column appears next week, Pea Ridge will attend to it and make it an authority on all matters pertaining to society, fashion, etiquette and dress from the garden of Eden costume to the latest design from Paris (Ky). Crochet, lace, embroidery, wax-work, shell-work, and all the new fancy stitches, designs, &c., will be noticed and explained. So now, ladies, get out your yarns, silk, needles, paints and satins, and read in next week's ROUNDABOUT "what I know about fancy work."

Speaking.

Jas. Andrew Scott, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative, will address the people at the following times and places: Bloomington Schoolhouse, Saturday night, May 21st; Polson's Landing, Tuesday night, May 24th; Harp Schoolhouse, Wednesday night, May 25th; Stoney Creek Schoolhouse, Thursday night, May 26th; Benson, Friday night, May 27th; Sheep Pen Schoolhouse, Saturday night, May 28th. Speaking will begin at 7:30 o'clock. My honorable opponent, Dr. B. F. Duvall, is especially invited to attend. Primary election Saturday, June 4th, 1887.

The Best Method.

The most agreeable as well as the most effective method of dispelling Headaches, Colds and Fevers or cleansing the system is by taking a few doses of the pleasant California Liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. It acts gently yet effectively, strengthening the organs on which it acts, so that regular habits may be formed. Manufactured only by the California Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal. FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Sudduth's Springs.

We will pay our respects to the Snipesville dude in our next.

King David has had one or more chances to catch the measles. If he should take them it would be an immense case.

Gen. Bannon Sudduth puts on more style than anybody about here. Why he is so grand that he keeps a man to do his cooking.

Geo. Bryant has had his premises all painted, which gives a cheerful appearance to the surroundings and looks mighty pretty.

There is an advertisement in the Wakefield School-house which reads "Burke Moore wants to marry." We reproduce it in order that the girls may take notice.

Mrs. Quire, relict of the late Jas. Quire, died on Friday morning, and was buried on Saturday. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. Mr. Peters, and was largely attended.

Kiser Bryant is running both the toll-gate and an immense grocery on the St. John's turnpike. Colored William is of the opinion that it is too much business for Kiser and suggests a divide.

Colored William has had his name changed. He is now known by the tender sobriquet of "the dear," while Ellick's, the smasher, has been changed to "the bear." Pretty names and pretty boys.

Gen. O'Bannon Sudduth has erected a very commodious storehouse at this famous watering place, which will soon be filled with a large stock of staple and fancy dry goods and groceries, with O'Bannon's smiling face behind the counter. This will be a grand resort for old maids and widows.

It gives a very few of us out here pleasure to see that there is now a fine prospect for another R. R. through our county. Francis Goins and myself are its only advocates, but we hope to have a few converts soon. It will be a grand affair when completed. When we once get there, all will be for it. It certainly will make times better while it is under construction.

SIFAX.

Twenty-one years ago John Flynn, aged thirty-five years, shut himself up at home with a sister, Mrs. Donahue, in Marquette, Mich., and was forgotten. Nine years ago Lawrence Donahue, son of Flynn's sister, disappeared. Apparently some mystery was connected with the house, which had been closed, and the curtains down for years, although occupied by Mrs. Donahue. Last week the City Marshal forced an entrance and found Flynn, who had not been out for years, and learned that Lawrence Donahue was hidden in the same house, although he could not be found. The man refused to divulge his hiding place. The woman claimed the old man had been in the house twenty years, and her son Lawrence had not stepped outside the door for nine years. The old man fought desperately, but was taken to the poor-house. He was a pitiable looking object. No reason was given for the strange action of the two men and the woman. —Exchange.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting with your lungs in danger. Consumption always seems to be, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same, but less expensive, but in getting Dr. King's New Discovery which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. To the Old Line Democracy of Franklin County.

Believing that the people of Franklin county desired the services of a man of talent in the Legislature, I announced myself a candidate subject to the action of the Democratic party. But, alas! I find that I was mistaken. A man of my ability is not wanted though he is badly needed. Having found that the people don't want a good man when they find him, I have concluded to let them go to the devil their own way and hereby announce my withdrawal from the race. In addition to the fact that I have no chance to win, my business arrangements are such as to preclude me from longer remaining a candidate. Besides my health is bad. But I want it distinctly understood that the lack of votes is the principal reason I refuse to serve the people, as I hate to deceive anybody. The people will heartily regret their failure to elect me and will yet rise up and howl for me to lift them out of the "rut" they have gotten into, but they will howl in vain.

C. M. HAWKINS.

May 14, 1887.

Mr. Wm. S. Morrison, of this city, and Mrs. Fannie E. McPherson, of Louisville, were married Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Noah Lloyd, No. 220 Clay street, Louisville. The wedding was strictly private. No cards. The groom is well known in this city as the business manager and cashier of the News, and is not only a gentleman of fine personal appearance, but universally popular. The bride was a resident of this city several years ago, and is a lady of accomplishments and unusual beauty. She is a daughter of the Reddish family, Frankfort, Ky. Both parties are well connected, and their lives will undoubtedly flow in perennial congeniality. The News wishes the bride and groom bright skies and undisturbed enjoyment of communal bliss — Jeffersonville (Ind.) News, May 17.
